THE HARTFORD HERALD.

"I COME, THE HERALD OF A NOISY WORLD, THE NEWS OF ALL NATIONS LUMBERING AT MY BACK."

HARTFORD, KENTUCKY, APRIL 18, 1883.

VOL. 9.

Pike's Foot-Lotion Drops are in use.

Seeds of every variety for sale at the Red Front.

New Line of Goods' ties just received at Z. A. Rosenberg's.

Born—To the wife of Luna Maples, April 14th, 1883, a son, and a daughter.

12 lbs of tobacco grower, the best fertilizer in use, for sale at the Red Front.

Just received by express children's coats, boys' and mens' raw, made at Z. A. Rosenberg's.

R. A. Stevens Esq., one of the leading attorneys of this district, has moved from his farm on No. 1000 N. Main St. to his new residence on No. 1000 N. Main St.

The Red Front is receiving daily fresh supplies of staple and fancy groceries in addition to the large stock on hand.

The warm sunshine and rain during the last few days has caused the buds and flowers to burst forth. In fact, it seems as if spring had really come.

Don't fail to stop in at the Red Front and get a glass of pure water.

There is something to be said, also, about the new water supply.

There have been several deaths lately. They are the result of the cold weather.

I know they are, and they would have responded to the calls made upon them through this paper and paid me what they owed me.

L. F. WOODSON.

Small gives the biggest bargains in clothing, hats, boots and shoes.

Mr. W. J. Jones, of the firm of Jones & Jones, Hartford, Ohio, has paid us a pleasant and profitable visit yesterday. The firm is one of the best doing business in the county.

Mr. L. S. Striber, an experienced sewing machine agent, is now agent at Hartford, Kentucky, for the Genuine Singer Sewing Machine, which is the best machine sold that is guaranteed a responsible company. Call on him and buy your wife, daughter or son a machine and make her happy.

"Spring time is coming, gentle Anne," and you want to lay aside those heavy, muddy winter boots or shoes and get a nice light, neat-fitting pair for spring and summer. You can find it if you will go to L. F. WOODSON, Hartford, Ky. He will give you a pair of good material, at a fair price.

We were glad to see our old friend Mr. S. Chinn in town Monday. He wounded in the knee Christmas last by an accidental shot from one of those noxious pistols in the hands of a boy named Ellis. He is now getting on again. He was injured during the war in one hip and in the knee of the other leg. He has an unfortunate cripple, as with the toy pistols, say we.

All the Hartford people, and especially the children, remember little and Bernard, the beautiful child with Miles Orton's show. The show were great favorites and our little will be glad to know that they are at Beaver Dam on the 19th inst. Fields, the favorite clown, still does his tricks at M. & M. Co's.

Cure That Cough.

Do not suffer your lungs to become diseased by allowing a cold to continue without an effort to cure it. Thousands have died premature deaths, the victims of consumption, by simply neglecting a cold.

Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the lungs will cure colds, coughs and consumption surer and quicker than any other remedy. It acts almost like magic in many cases, and in others, its effect, though slow, is sure if persisted in according to directions.

A Southern Romance.

Once upon a time, and not very long ago at that, a young man of Atlanta fell in love with an Atlanta girl. This happens every day, and, as also happens, the girl fell in love with the young man. Somehow or other, the parents frowned upon the union of these two hearts that beat as one and they continued to frown until the young people, thrown upon their own resources, eloped, as young people will do, and the parental frown alluded to, instead of becoming a smile and benediction in the presence of the inevitable.

happy. Nothing would do these two old people but their daughter must be sent for, and such another reunion and revel as was held over that baby has never before been seen in Atlanta. That we'll say and stick to.

One voice all over the land goes up from mothers that say, "my daughters are so feeble and sad, with no strength, all out of breath and life at the least exertion. What can we do for them?"

The answer is simple and full of hope. One to four weeks' use of Hop Bitters will make them healthy, rosy, sprightly and cheerful.

"Rough on Rats."

The thing desired found at last. Ask druggists for "Rough on Rats." It clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, bedbugs, lice, etc.

Ingersoll's Eloquence Matched.

No one who has ever heard Ingersoll's lecture will deny that he is a rare orator. His word-painting is wonderful, his eloquence entrancing. Thus far in his crusade against christianity, this skeptic has appeared in the eyes of his followers a giant against giants. He has encountered an adversary, however, even in his own peculiarities of rhetoric, to judge from a sermon delivered on last Sunday, on the occasion of the dedication of the Church of the Annunciations at Kansas City, Mo., by Rev. Father David S. Phelan, well known as the editor of the Western Worker. Having asserted that the "idea of the soul and the faith in its immortality must have come down from above, as earth could not have taught it nor could death have inspired," the reverend father said:

"If there is no hereafter, then life is one long debauch, and the highest education is to know how to find and how best to enjoy pleasure. If there is no hereafter, virtue is a deceit and heroism a lie. See that young man bleeding from a hundred wounds! He died in defense of a sister's honor. If there is no hereafter, that noblest of deeds will go forever unrewarded. See that young sister in the hospital bending over the victim of the plague; tomorrow she will succumb—a rapid rife—a busy sepulchre will reward her devotion. If there is no hereafter, her charity is a sorry requital. See that man holding an afflicted child at the window of a burning building. He holds it long enough for a sturdy companion to grasp it from below and then falls back into his fiery tomb. If there is no hereafter, such sacrifice is heartless and unmeaning cruelty. See that troop of soldiers marching by to the beating of the drum. Their country has called and they go to defend their honor on the battlefield. They follow that flag into the thickest of the fight, and when the bugle sounds the retreat, they return from the carnage. Those brave soldiers died with their faces to the foe, and a smile was stamped on their features in death. If there is no hereafter, their heroism was suicide and their courage a mockery of fate. Early life is closed in death; the grave terminates all comfort and association with things of this world, and above their tier, the weak, the timid, the sweet voice of God, saying, 'I am the life.'—Philadelphia Record.

The Grandeur of Woman.

When you want to get the grandest idea of a queen, you do not think of Catherine, of Russia, or Anne, of England, or of Marie Theresa, of Germany, but when you want to get your grandest idea of a queen, you think of the plain woman who sat opposite your father at the table, or walked with him arm in arm down life's pathway—sometimes to the thanksgiving banquet, sometimes to the grave, but always together, soothing your petty griefs, correcting your childish waywardness, joining in your infantile sports, listening to your evening prayers, toiling for you with needle, or at the spinning wheel and on cold nights, wrapping you up snug and warm. And then, at last, on that day when she lay in the last room dying, and you saw her take those thin hands, with which she had toiled for you so long, and put them together in a dying prayer that commended you to the God whom she had taught you to trust—oh, she was the Queen! The chariot of God went down to fetch her, and as she went in, all heaven rose up. You cannot think of her now without a rush of tenderness that stirs the deep foundations of your soul.

Well, some of my old friends, readers of the HERALD, would perhaps like to know how I like Colorado by this time; to which, I would reply that after three years' residence, I like it very well. It is the healthiest country that I ever saw, yet there is some sickness here, and, by the way, we want a good doctor to come and settle here; one that does not drink whisky; for the people will not patronize drunken doctors. Is there not some sober doctor in Ohio or an adjoining county that would like to try the west? If so, I think he would do well to try Stirling, Colorado; I would like to correspond with any such.

We have some disadvantages here, the greatest of which is lack of timber. For the present, I will close.

J. H. BARNETT.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noves, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Presidential Appointees.

The following is a list of the most important office holders in our Government, appointed by the President from the State of Indiana:

Gen. Walter Q. Gresham, Postmaster General; Hon. John C. New, First Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Hon. John W. Foster, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Madrid, Spain; Gen. Lewis Wallace, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to Constantinople, Turkey; Hon. William Williams, Charge d'Affaires, Paraguay and Uruguay; Col. W. W. Dudley, United States Commissioner of Penitentiaries; David S. Alexander, Fifth Auditor of the United States Treasury; Wm. T. Otto, Reporter of the Supreme Court; Col. E. A. Corman, Chief Clerk of the Department of Agriculture; Hon. Wm. Curry, Special Agent for the Pension Department; Z. B. Sturges, Chief Land and Railroad Division; Chas. A. Key, Law Clerk in the Post-office Department and in charge of the Division of Postal Laws and Regulations; Jas. W. Seidler, Secretary of Col. Dudley, Commissioner of Penitentiaries; and J. E. Hilbard, Superintendent of Coast and Geodetic Surveys.

The above are only the most important and lucrative positions. In addition to these it is estimated that there are about 500 Indians in the Government employ as clerks &c. When we consider the vast influence these various employees have at their respective houses, that their relatives and friends all over the State will use every effort and means possible in supporting the party in power in order to keep in high positions their friends and kinsmen, need we wonder that the party in power is almost invincible? When we further consider that the party now having the executive department in its hands, is the avowed friend, yes, slave to Iron monopolies, National Banks, and manufacturing monopolies with their untold millions to lavish in their own aggrandizement, should not Democrats be proud of their well fought battles.—Madisonville Times.

If disease has entered the system, the only way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood. To this end, as is acknowledged by all medical men, nothing is better adapted than iron. The fault hitherto has been that iron could not be so prepared as to be absolutely harmless to the teeth. This difficulty has been overcome by the Brown Chemical Company, of Baltimore, Md., who offer their Brown's Iron Bitters as a faultless iron preparation, a positive cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney troubles, etc.

A Good Time Coming.

It is more than likely that you all know what a lean a first class show is, and what a plague a rattler affair can make itself. You are shortly to be visited by what the leading newspapers of the country pronounce to be "the very greatest organization in the country, etc." The attractions are extremely manifold, and the mere mention of a few leading ones would arouse the curiosity of the most fastidious. The Anglo-American Circus of four combined shows, traveling as it does, exclusively by rail on its own special cars, makes a fruitful promise of superiority in presenting the latest and greatest features of the great giants; the sacred white camel, the spotted leopard man, and the funny clown; the Nippon Jugglers, the Japanese circus, the regular fire jugglers, the Oriental parades, the wonderful riding show, the three great circus troupes, and the greatest union of four great shows for one ticket you have ever seen. It takes place at Beaver Dam, Thursday, April 19th, 1883.
